BELOW IS A "BLAST FROM THE PAST"

I hate doing ghost investigations on weeknights, because the next morning I have to get up and go to work. But, this is one ghost investigation I had to check out. I was meeting up with Shannon X at her home right after work. We headed out in her black VW sports car affectionately called, "The Ectoplasmobile".

Shannon and I discussed various investigations that we have been on all the way to the small quaint town of Newcastle, CA. Shannon drives like a bat-out-of-hell and there were many times I was putting my foot on an invisible brake pad. As we drove past a makeshift grave on the side of the road, I said silent prayers that Shannon would get me to Newcastle safely. She did, but then thoughts of Shannon driving me back home came to my mind and I started shivering again. I was more scared of Shannon's driving than I was of any possible ghosts we might encounter at Constable Jacks.

Let's get a rundown of what haunts Constable Jacks, a very cool bar, nightclub that has live band entertainment. Historical records provided by H.P.I. researcher, Kristen Sheley indicate that:

"A ghost of a young man in his twenties haunts this old saloon and restaurant. Employees nicknamed him 'Gary'. He is blamed for wine bottles and glasses that fly off the shelves behind the bar. The glasses never break when they hit the floor. Gary is known to roam the basement and switch lights on and off. This establishment was formerly known as Soracco's Restaurant and Saloon, located at 525 Main Street in Newcastle. The former owner Gus Soracco thinks that Gary the Ghost was 'done in' at this bar. Gus Soracco has felt Gary's presence behind him, when he used to close down this establishment."

Now that this establishment has turned over to a new owner Jacquie Looper, she has her own stories. Jacquie's grandfather from 1910 to 1920 was the owner of Constable Jacks. Her grandfather was the Constable of Auburn, CA. Some of the activities that have occurred under her watch include:

1. Dishes flying off the shelves.
2. When Jacquie was saying that she didn't believe in ghosts, 10 to 12 bud vases flew off the refrigerator on their own accord.
3. Her daughter Sheena Looper has witnessed a spotlight blinking off and on and then only to discover that the spotlight was not even plugged in!
4. Bottles of beer exploding.
5. Patrons have claimed to have seen a young woman in her 20s, with blonde hair peeking around corners wearing a pioneer dress.
6. Shylah & Dana (daughters of Jacquie) were cleaning around the bar late at night when they called their mom and asked her why the flashlight was left on at the bar and why the candle was lit. This has never happened before, but for some reason the flashlight came on, and the candle was lit and no one was around to light it. The girls hastened it out the front door, scared to their wits! On another night, they witnessed a candle one of the girls was holding in her hands and it lit on its own, then they heard running footsteps across the roof. Again, they made haste out the door!
7. Sheena relates to me that the town of Newcastle burned down 3 times and that this bar also once caught fire. You can see the burned timbers in the basement. The basement at one time was a brothel.

A psychic who came to this establishment believes the ghostly pioneer woman's name is 'Emily'.

The date of this investigation is: August 8, 2007, Tuesday. Investigative Team included: John Wachter aka Vlawder - Investigator; Alicia Perry - Tech Support; Chris Grissom - Tech Support; Kristen Shelly - Researcher; Shannon X - Investigator; Paul Dale Roberts - Investigator - Documentarian; Mary Casiano - Investigator; Michelle Paykel - Investigator; Cherie Vincent - Scout/Investigator. Kudos to Cherie for scouting this establishment and getting this investigation authorized by the owners!

As the investigative team sought out different locations to investigate under the guidance and direction of our HPI rule book, I surveyed the establishment with a keen eye. I was in awe at the macabre decorations, such as a mannequin woman that was dressed as a vampire dominatrix that was attached to the ceiling. The place was like a museum filled with artifacts and relics of years gone by. The establishment was dashed with relics from the past to the present. Fascinating eye-candy for party goers and history buffs!

I went into the basement, it was very dark and quite spooky. It was a very large basement that had nooks and crannies everywhere. Huge potholes that you could fall into, and dirt shoved off to the side making a small embankment or hill. This was the perfect spot for a ghost and his or her ghostly friends! As Chris Grissom manned the TV monitor, he was capturing all kinds of strange orbs either moving methodically slow or moving at lightning speed. Orbs can be almost anything, they can be dust, skin flakes, dew drops, light refractions, lint, etc. If you can show "intelligent movement" is the only way I would deem an orb as paranormal.

Shannon picked up an EVP that was an inaudible whisper. As I conclude this article, let's see what our historian has for the FINDINGS and CONCLUSION.

As some of the investigative team went into the basement, one of the investigators, Alicia Perry felt a presence touching her. She felt like she was touched 3 times.

I tried to entice the spirit of "Emily" or "Gary" with Cherie Vincent. Cherie started picking up some unusual spikes near us, with her EMF (Electromagnetic Field) meter and it furiously started flashing with a red light. We video documented the area where the spikes happened and with further study, we hope to have something to show my readers.

All in all, this was a very unusual establishment that I would love to visit when I am not ghost hunting and perhaps enjoy a cold beer and listen to a band. Shannon and I, had to leave early, because we both have to work the next day....well John has to work tomorrow too and has to get up at 4am, but since he wants to stay and see if he can capture anything else, he is going to tough it out for the long haul. Nice work, John!

Thank you Shannon for getting me home safely and not in pieces!! Whew! Shannon needs to put a red light on top of her car, you would think it was an emergency vehicle! Maybe her car is an emergency vehicle...just call our paranormal hotline!

THE FINAL FINDINGS

3 EVP's saying "Get Out" in a whisper. "Are we dead" spoken in a male tone. "Help me" in a female tone, and other assorted inaudible whispers. We had lots of orb in the basement (inconclusive). One of the investigators, Alicia Perry was touched 3 times on the head and back by an unseen force in the basement. This is considered a personal experience and not counted as evidence.

CONCLUSION: "Quite a neat place, lots of very interesting art and some really excellent food! I'd say that, yes, out of what we examined in the short time we were there the place is indeed haunted. I'd give it a 6.5 on the spook factor, it's just too neat of a place and it has such good energy that I can't give it too spooky of a factor" - Shannon X.

NEXT: I received a report from Taylor Dundren of Palm Springs about the VOGUE Supper Club in Los Angeles. Taylor said she was sitting next to a couple. The male had a mustache and black hair and looked to be Hispanic. The female had shoulder length Auburn colored hair and fair skinned. Taylor noticed that when they talked, they sounded like they were talking in an echo chamber. Taylor thought it was unusual and looked towards their way, only to see them dissipate into nothingness. Taylor realized she just witnessed two ghosts who were sitting next to her. 5 minutes later, another couple takes their seats. Taylor's boyfriend did not witness the incident. The only witness to this was Taylor. What is interesting is that at one time my nephew Michaelis Jacoby performed as a DJ at this supper club and the headliner for entertainment was Ice Cube. Palm Springs, CA, is known for its glamorous, sunny reputation, but it also hides a darker, spectral side often explored on local ghost tours. Based on reports and investigations as of 2026, here are some of the most haunted places in the area.

Triada Palm Springs (formerly the Spanish Inn):

Tied to glamorous Old Hollywood figures like Marilyn Monroe and Howard Hughes, this hotel is famously haunted. Room 223 is a hotspot for activity, with reports of unmade beds, cold spots, and sightings of spirits, including the "Lady in White". Located in the historic Movie Colony neighborhood, the hotel is rumored to be haunted by spirits from its heyday as a celebrity retreat in the 1940s-1970s. Stories suggest that the ghost of Howard Hughes haunts the premises, with some accounts even alleging he and Marilyn Monroe (who was a frequent guest) haunt Room 233. Then we have the Room 312 incidents. This suite, once a favorite of Howard Hughes, is noted as a hotspot for activity, with reports of housekeeping finding sheets inexplicably removed from the bed and balled up. Guests and staff have reported seeing the shadow of a tall man, believed by some to be a watchful "caretaker" from the hotel's inception. Reports include unexplained footsteps in empty hallways, flickering lights, objects moving, and doors slamming. During the $8-million renovation prior to its 2014 opening as a Marriott Autograph Collection property, construction workers reported tools moving on their own and feeling watched. The hotel was famously owned by Sue Carol Ladd (widow of Alan Ladd) in the 1970s, attracting stars like Elizabeth Taylor and Lana Turner. Dark Shade Paranormal conducted an investigation at this hotel and managed to obtain several EVPs. The significant EVPs captured was a man's voice saying "which way?" "break it out" "your toss". There was one female EVP voice that said "no, no". Dark Shade Paranormal believes these are residual EVPs, not intelligent. Back in 1979, I lived in Palm Springs for 3 months and visited this hotel and remember seeing 2 quick moving shadows that I found odd. Karen Jean Caruso who lived in Palm Springs for a short spell says that she saw Marilyn Monroe's reflection in a mirror at the Spanish Inn in 1980.

Palm Canyon Theatre:

The Palm Canyon Theatre is widely considered one of Palm Springs' most haunted landmarks. Built in the 1920s as a schoolhouse, the venue is a frequent stop on local ghost tours, with actors and staff reporting shadowy figures in the wings, disembodied whispers, and inexplicable cold spots after the curtains close. A recurring spirit is Mrs. Stevens, she is spotted in the early morning hours is said to be the wife of early Palm Springs settler Prescott T. Stevens. The full body apparition of Prescott is sometimes seen. Performers and crew members have frequently reported seeing dark, shadowy figures moving in the wings and hearing whispers during late-night rehearsals. No theatre is without its "Phantom Audience". Like many historic theaters, there are tales of figures appearing in the auditorium seating or balcony when the building is completely empty. There have been times when laughter is heard, or the sounds of mumbling. One time a local named Miguel Yondik heard a phantom audience cheering. A janitorial worker once heard someone go...shhhhhhh!

Walk of the Stars Palm Springs:

Located near the Out West Trading Co., the star for legendary entertainer Liberace is said to be haunted, with reports of ghostly piano music and unexplained lights in the area. Visitors and guides report hearing a lone piano chiming, seeing the air light up in colors, or noticing a shimmering figure on their photographs when posing near his star at night.

Charles Naywert House:

On July 4, 1984, art dealer Charles Naywert and his house painter, Carl Ernest Hinsenkamp, were brutally murdered inside the residence. People say they feel a "dark energy" at this house. There have not been any sightings of ghosts at this house.

The home is described as being secluded, it is a gray cement-brick residence built into the hillside at the end of Tahquitz Canyon Way. Detectives say that this house is the scene of a violent struggle, and the murders remain officially unsolved. Because of this gruesome history, the home has gained a dark reputation in local ghost stories and true-crime urban legends.

Frances Stevens Park:

Considered one of the city's oldest public spaces, this park is frequently noted for strange, chilling sightings after dark. A notable ghost at this park is known as "The Woman in the Window". The Woman in the Window is known to pace the upper-story windows of the former school building (now the theatre) at night.

OTHER PLACES CLOSE TO PALM SPRINGS THAT ARE STRANGE:

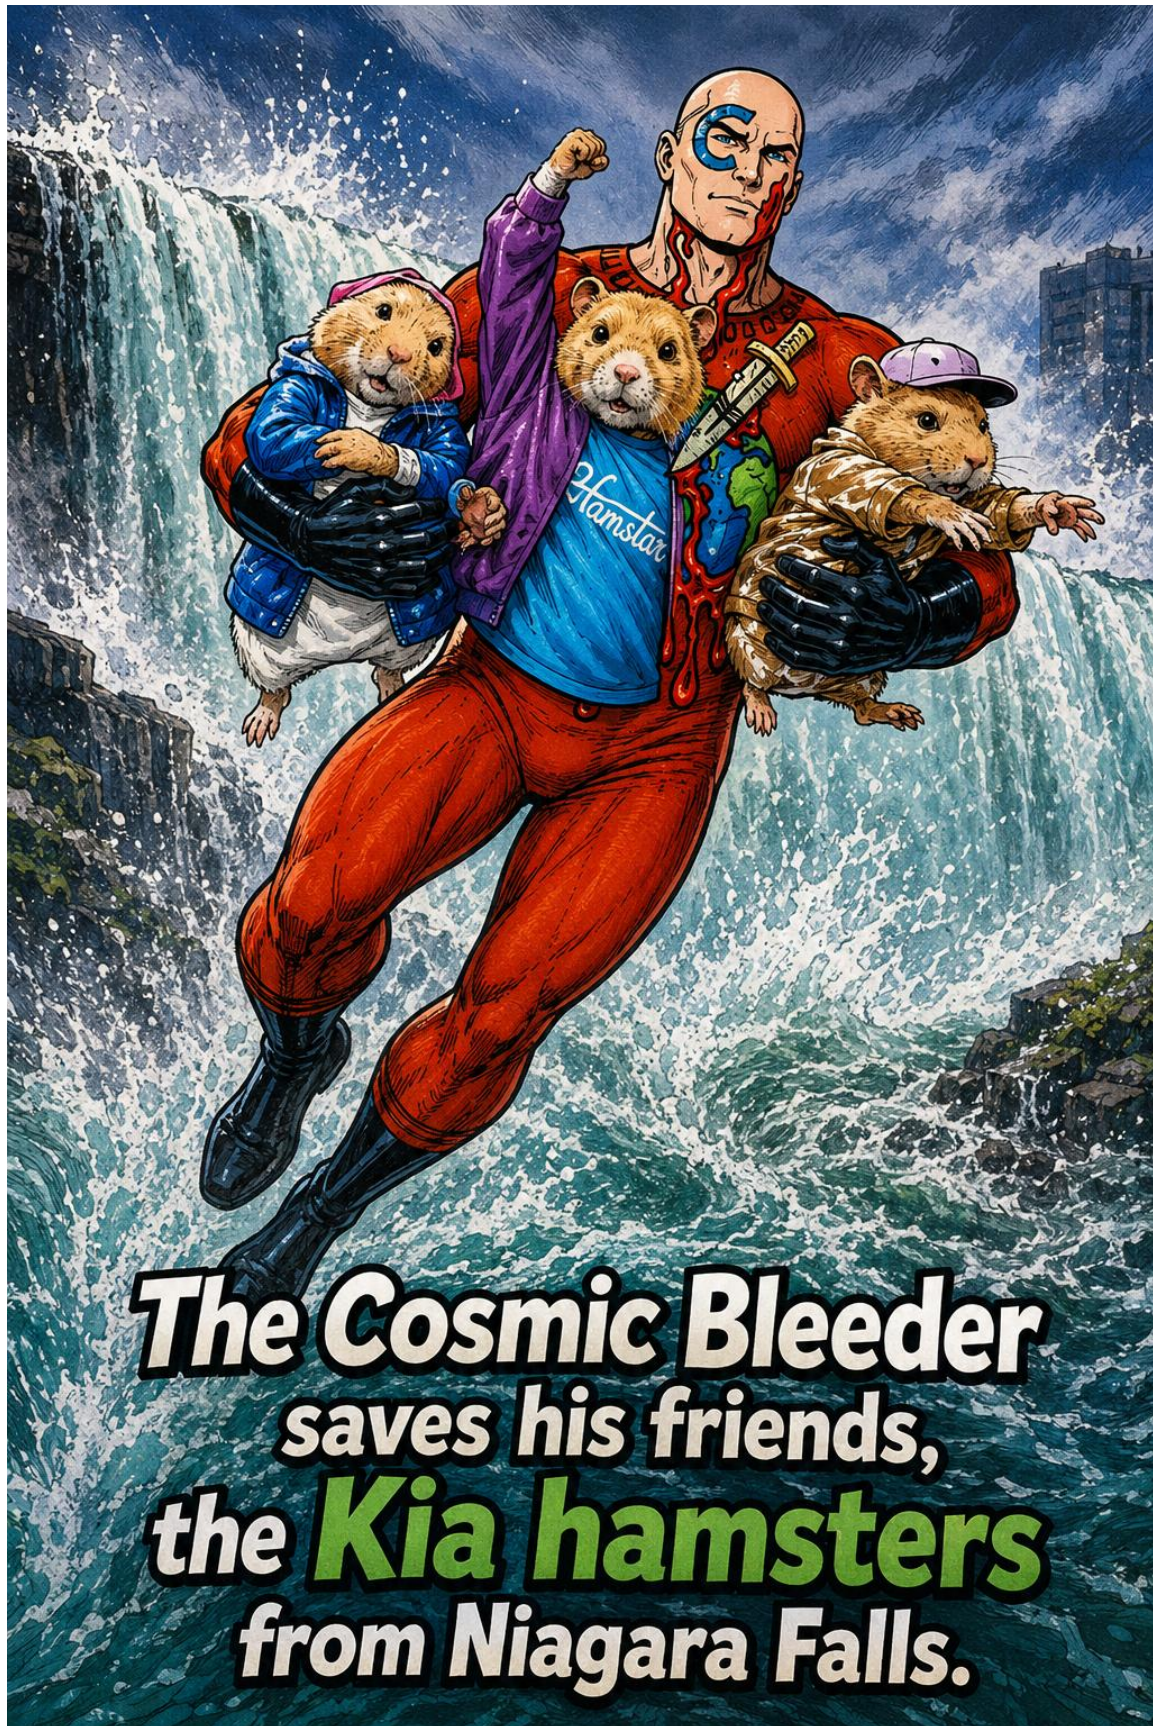

Joshua Tree Inn (Room 8): While nearby in Joshua Tree, this is a frequently mentioned site where country-rock musician Gram Parsons met his end in 1973, with many reporting his presence, disappearing objects, and a self-moving mirror. The distance from Palm Springs to Joshua Tree is one hour.

UFOS SEEN NEAR PALM SPRINGS:

The 1955 Diamond Craft is one of the most famous local sightings and is detailed in declassified Air Force documents, where a "flying diamond" was tracked visually and on radar over the Palm Springs desert. In the 1970s, multiple valley residents and law enforcement officers reported sightings of a craft resembling a "cigar with a light on each end".

Year: 1980. Karen Jean Caruso is at the Spanish Inn aka Triada Palm Springs looking in the mirror and she sees the ghosts of Marilyn Monroe and Howard Hughes behind her, in the reflection of the mirror.

BLAST FROM THE PAST

In the Heart of Triangle Alley: Preston Castle/Ione Hotel

By Paul Dale Roberts, HPI General Manager, Ghostwriter, Paranormal Investigator

Date: May 23, 2009, Saturday. What is Triangle Alley, you may ask? It's an area that covers Ione, Sonora and all the way up to Mount Shasta. Shannon ☞ Ms. Macabre ☞ McCabe, President of HPI (Haunted and Paranormal Investigations International) does not realize that I will venture off after her scouting mission to the infamous Preston Castle and Ione Hotel and head into the starry night with binoculars and telescope to scope out the skies over Ione. The telescope I am using is a 16-48 x 60 Team Realtree Spotter XLII Outfit. I borrowed this telescope from my neighbor Rukesh Kumar.

Whoa...whoa..stop! Before you read on, why don't you stop and look at some of the photos we took at the Preston Castle and Ione Hotel? You can find them right here:

https://s459.photobucket.com/albums/qq319/HPI_International/IoneHotel/

Okay, you have permission to move on with the story....

In Triangle Alley, according to Bill Birnes of History Channel's UFO Hunters is an area where many people see triangle shaped UFOs. Could these triangle shaped UFOs be coming from Area 51, which is a couple hundred miles East from us? Tonight, I will attempt to see if I can spot one of these unusual craft in the lone night skies.

To confirm the stories in Triangle Alley is Loretta Turpen. Loretta said that in 1994, she was driving on Hwy 49 with some friends and she saw a very bright triangle shaped object zip by her car. She followed it for a while and it seemed to blow up and the whole sky lit up. When the skies were normal again, she could see the UFO zip off erratically into the night sky. She watched it until it vanished.

Preston Castle/Ione Hotel HPI Task Force:

As I arrive to Ione, I am greeted by Shannon and her paranormal investigative scouting party that consists of: Tim Hawkins ☞ HPI Secretary, Rick, Rebecca Gann, Elaine Backert, Bobby Marchesso ☞ TV Celebrity Psychic, John Shue, Shirley Hasselbrink, Helen Henkel, Jennifer Leigh Collado, Julia and Brett Cattel - entrepreneurs of www.liquidsolutionsinc.com, Donna Jackson, Arndt Peltner and Britta Jacob ☞ Public Radio Germany ☞ SWR (Suedwestdeutscher Rundfunk) www.radiogoethe.org ☞

Email: info@radiogoethe.org / and Eileen VerHulst aka Ilyana. Note: Arndt interviewed Shannon and me in Shannon's room, Room 5. We discussed our paranormal adventures over German radio.

Our first investigation consists of a full blown tour of the infamous Preston Castle. A place where a nurse named Anna was severely kicked to death by 3 wards of the State. Anna still haunts this castle. Yvonne Funderburgh, our tour guide showed us the de-licing pool in which wards were taken to be de-liced. Bobby explained that near this area is where he encountered and visualized small black gremlin like creatures that would appear and disappear. Donna Jackson and Eileen VerHulst told me that they got a great EVP at Preston Castle. Donna asked: Is there any one here with me? The EVP male voice says "yes". Shannon verifies the EVP. Donna and Eileen are with En-Vision

Paranormal www.myspace/envisionparanormal

After the Preston Castle, we headed over to the Ione Hotel where I was greeted by Mahmood Ghani, owner of the Ione Hotel. Information about the hotel: www.ionehotel.com located at 25 West Main Street, Ione, CA 95640. He introduced me to Chuck Swisher ☞ Executive Chef ☞ Ian Beharry ☞ Manager of their new restaurant called ☞Cravings☞. Cravings serves European based foods. They also serve Special Event food with customized menus for Italian based, Spanish and French foods. We all had dinner in Cravings and I ordered the Fettuccini Alfredo. Let me tell you, dinner was scrumptious. The Fettuccini Alfredo practically melted in my mouth.

Ione Hotel staff is very friendly and 4 staff members I interviewed are Marissa Foreman, Stacey Johnson, Jana Griffen and Michelle Rosas. Stacey tells me that when she is bartending, the ghost of the bar is known to move her air fan. On a hot day, she will have the hot fan blowing on her and an entity will move the fan away from her, where the air is blowing in the opposite direction. Stacey says the entity likes to mess with her. Talking with Jana, she tells me that she has heard of all the stories, such as glasses moving on the bar and she has been told by Chuck Swisher on how he has seen a dark figure moving around the hotel. Jana hasn't seen anything yet, she is one of the newer employees. Michelle has heard about the toilets flushing on their own and she has not witnessed anything paranormal yet. Michelle is also new.

Before our investigation, we all headed over to Tilly's Bar across the street to do some karaoke. Bobby Marchesso and Shannon broke out with the song Love Shack by the B-52s and the crowd went wild. Both Bobby & Shannon are great singers. Bobby also rocked the house with I'm Gonna Be (500 Miles) by the Proclaimers. He sang this song with an Irish accent. Later on end the night, the Karaoke DJ kept on getting the songs all mixed up. He was so bad, everyone was booing him. Finally, we had enough of his mess-ups and we left and proceeded to get the investigation going. Donna Jackson, Shannon McCabe and I went into the roles of lead investigators and broke up the teams into 3 groups. We investigated various rooms of the hotel, the 1st floor and the 2nd floor. On this particular night, the ghosts weren't performing; it's almost as if they were hiding. We had a 2nd investigative session which consisted of a free-for-all allowed the HPI scouting party to investigate any area that they desired. Yes, we got a lot of orb pictures, but nothing really significant in our photographs. After the investigative sessions, we conducted communication via a Frank Box or Spirit Box. Donna Jackson coordinated this event using her Spirit Box. We did get a few significant responses, but not as many as we have in other investigations. The finale was having a seance over the well area. There is a table built over the wall, and we tried to communicate with little Jimmy who fell into this well. Jimmy was a young boy playing at the well and fell over. There were people who tried to save him, but the water took him under and all they could see was his outstretched hand as he went under for the final time. Bobby felt that Jimmy and any other entities really didn't want to communicate with us this night. We managed to get one EVP during the seance. We asked if there is anyone here and a whispery voice says ☞yes☞. This still needs to be analyzed. The only other possible activity we got is when Bobby's K2 reader went wild upstairs at a location where there should have been no electronic magnetic field influence.

The investigation ended at 2am. Donna Jackson and Eileen VerHulst were headed out towards Modesto and I followed them in the GhostTracker, heading back home to Elk Grove. I was tired and as I am following the dust of Donna's vehicle, I came to the realization that I have not completed my mission tonight. I gave Donna my bright lights and she pulled over. I explained to Donna and Eileen I must stop for awhile before I drive out of Triangle Alley and watch the skies for any UFO activity. They understood. I brought out my binoculars and telescope and set up came along side of the road. On this night, I spotted 2 satellites, one meteor and 8 conventional aircraft. I did not once see a triangle shaped UFO. I can definitely say the ghosts and aliens did not perform tonight. The way I look at it, there is always another time.

One more person that I interviewed earlier in the day was Hardball Denver Jackson. Hardball is a colorful character and was wearing a wide brim cowboy hat. He was wearing an Arizona Diamondbacks jersey. He stopped me and asked what the sign on my car meant. The sign he was referring to were the HPI sign on my doors. After explaining to him what the sign was and what HPI does, he then told me that he saw a triangle shaped UFO on Hwy 49 near Chinese Camp. The triangle shaped UFO was the size of 3 football fields and moved at lightning speed past his pick-up truck. His pick-up truck stalled for a few seconds and restarted again. The time he saw this UFO was at 3:25am in 1994. He said he will never forget that night. As for ghosts, he says Sagebrush Charlie; a Chinese miner is often seen at Chinese Camp. Sagebrush Charlie died in one of the mines and is at times seen walking along Hwy 49 near Chinese Camp. He has heard stories of Sagebrush Charlie, but has never seen this apparition. Hardball tells me that his former mother-in-law saw the apparition in 1971.

This ends the story of our experience in Lone. As you can see there are a lot of great stories, but we didn't get much for evidence on this night. Below are updates about HPI and updates about the paranormal in general. Enjoy! Special Note: Today when I went to Preston Castle, I realized that the California Youth Authority is right next to this castle. This is the same California Youth Authority Camp that my former best man Paul Saldivar worked at. I remember Paul talking about the 'castle', but didn't realize he was actually referring to Preston Castle. Today, I put 2 + 2 together and actually got '4'.

Barnes & Noble:

The other day, I was sitting in Barnes & Noble Bookstore, and doing a bit of research during my lunch hour, when I was approached by Mona Langer and her husband. Come to find out Mona reads all of my articles and has seen me on TV. She asked if I could autograph the latest issue of Haunted Times (that has 2 of my articles in it). Of course, I was happy to oblige. Plus, I was taken by her lovely smile. I will be taking Mona and her husband with me on a future investigation.

Paranormal Bounty Hunter:

Think about it, if you can positively prove that ghosts exist, or if you had some UFO wreckage in your garage, you would make a fortune on television interviews, selling books, etc. If I was keeping a real Bigfoot in an ice chest in my garage, I would have interviews set up with Conan O'Brien, Jay Leno, Larry King Live and the list goes on and on. Would I do something like this? Well, with the economy as bad as it is...the answer would be 'yes'. If I had evidence proving something of the paranormal existed, I would get as much money as possible in interviews, books, etc. Yep, I would sell out to the highest bidder, so if you want to call me a Paranormal Bounty Hunter, because I will accept money, then I will accept this title with pleasure. I spend a lot of hours searching for the truth. The way I look at it, I should be compensated for my efforts in some form of fashion. So, watch out Bigfoot, I'm comin' after ya! Silver City, New Mexico, is widely considered to be highly haunted, with a rich history of Wild West shootouts, mining tragedies, and spectral encounters. The entire area is steeped in paranormal lore, with local downtown buildings and nearby historic hotels frequently serving as backdrops for spooky tales. When I was a little boy, I went with my parents and sister to see Billy the Kid's grave and to explore Silver City. When I saw Billy the Kid's grave, I became drawn to the history of Billy the Kid. I recently watched MGM+ Billy the Kid series, and I must say that MGM+ did a fantastic job in showcasing Billy the Kid's traumatic life. There have been a few people that claim they have seen Billy the Kid's restless spirit. Possible sightings of Billy's apparition have been seen at Silver City, Lincoln and Fort Sumner. Billy the Kid had a mysterious life, and I sometimes wonder if Billy the Kid actually lost his life to Pat Garrett? Did Billy the Kid survive his encounter with Pat Garrett and live out his life as Brushy Bill Roberts? If he did, then why are people saying that they are seeing the ghostly apparition of Billy the Kid? Perhaps it's time to see what DNA magic can be done, to determine if Billy the Kid is actually in that grave at Fort Sumner. Below are some of the paranormal hotspots of Silver City.

The Palace Hotel:

It is known for a tragic murder on the second floor. The Historic Palace Hotel in Silver City, New Mexico, is widely considered to be haunted and is frequently cited as one of the state's real haunted places. Dating back to the 1880s, the former hotel and saloon had numerous reports of paranormal activity. Witnesses have reported seeing a bloodstain in one of the second-floor bathroom areas that appears and then vanishes. Linda Danvers visited this hotel and witnessed the blood stain. Linda says she was grossed out and walked out of the room to make a complaint. When she returned, the blood stain had disappeared. Linda thought she imagined the blood stain, only to learn that she is not the only one that has witnessed the "Vanishing Bloodstain". A famous apparition is The Lady in Old-Fashioned Dress. This apparition has been seen by several people. It's a female apparition in period clothing has been spotted on the main staircase. Then you have the Prankster Ghosts. Guests have reported experiences such as knocking on doors with no one there. The activity rooms are Rooms 66 & 75. According to local paranormal videos, specific rooms are noted for activity, including Room 66 (mistress/murder) and Room 75 (child death). Guests have reported objects being moved around, indentations on the bed, as if someone is sitting on the bed. Knockings on the wall, doorknobs being shaken and turned by an invisible force. Whispering heard. Strange laughter heard. The hotel is located at 106 W Broadway St and is noted for its "funky" historical, 1800s-style atmosphere. While it is a popular spot for those interested in the paranormal, it remains a functioning restored hotel.

The Murray Hotel:

Located on West Broadway, this Art Deco landmark features stories of unexplained phantom footsteps in the ballroom, mysterious voices in the stairwells, and phantom door-closing noises reported by guests. The Murray Hotel in Silver City, New Mexico, is frequently described as a historic haunted hotel by visitors and guests. Reports and lore surrounding the 1938 Art Deco hotel include:

1. Unexplained Noises:

Staff and guests have reported hearing voices in the stairwell and footsteps or noises in the ballroom. One staff person heard a woman's soft whisper in his ear saying: "come here."

2. Apparitions and Experiences:

Stories include guests hearing doors shut when no one is around, a "prankster ghost" shifting items, and feelings of spectral experiences, as guests would call it.

3. History:

The hotel was closed for roughly two decades (the 1990s through 2005) before being restored, a period often associated with tales of the supernatural.

4. Atmosphere:

Some guests have reported "feeling lightheaded, shortness of breath, heaviness and feeling of sadness". Guests have felt the feeling of dread in some areas of the hotel. My mother Rose Marie Roberts a psychic said she felt depression when going inside this hotel. She felt there were 3 people who have died in this hotel. With those 3, 2 were murdered and 1 committed suicide. After 15 minutes in the hotel, my mother had to leave, the depression overcame her. When she left the hotel, everything went back to normal.

Downtown Properties:

Even local real estate and commercial buildings are rumored to have otherworldly tenants. For instance, downtown office buildings on Yankie Street have had paranormal teams record unexplained high-tech alarms and mysterious audio anomalies after hours. Independent ghost hunter Matthew Longview claims he saw the full body apparition of what looked like Billy the Kid's buddy Jesse Evan. Jesse Evan, a friend of Billy the Kid was an outlaw, gunfighter and was the leader of a gang of rustlers known as The Boys or The Evans Gang.

The late Jeff Scott Clifford was my adoptive brother and business partner for Jazma Universe Online! & the Peoples' Comic Book Newsletter. I sold the Stan Lee signed Biography on Ebay for $75.00.

TARASP CASTLE, SWITZERLAND

When I visited Switzerland with my Army unit, the first thing I asked the tour guide was....is Tarasp Castle haunted? Come to find out it was haunted, but not too haunted. Here is some paranormal history of this enchanting castle:

Tarasp Castle (Schloss Tarasp) in Switzerland is often cited in tales of the paranormal, largely centered on the ghost of Dr. Karl August Lingner, who restored the castle in the early 20th century.

Ghostly Legends and Hauntings

- The Mouthwash Mogul: Dr. Lingner, who made a fortune with "Odol" mouthwash, bought the abandoned castle around 1900 but died in 1916 just weeks before his restoration work was completed. It is believed his spirit haunts the corridors because he never saw the finished castle or heard its 3,000-pipe organ.
- The Eerie Organ: Visitors are often told that the castle organ plays itself, with music emanating from speakers hidden behind woodwork. This sudden, unexpected music is considered part of the haunted atmosphere.
- Historical Turmoil: Built in the 11th century, the castle has a violent history, including being stormed, burned in 1612, and hosting lightning strikes that killed residents, providing a backdrop for potential legends.

While famous for its history rather than being a "horror" attraction, the atmosphere of the 1000-year-old structure leads many to consider it one of Switzerland's notably haunted sites.
